

CONG. COX RESIGNS AS LAW MAKER

Will Take Effect Saturday—Speaker Clark Notified

SUFFERS WITH BAD COLD

Several House Chairmanships Announced—Clear Road for Liquor License Legislation.

Dayton, O., Jan. 8.—Governor-Elect James M. Cox today forwarded his resignation as congressman of the third Ohio district, the same to take effect January 11th. Mr. Cox also notified Speaker Champ Clark of his action.

Columbus, Jan. 8.—That he may be able to attend his inaugural ball here Monday without fear of his health, Governor-Elect Cox today remained at his home in Dayton, suffering with a bad cold, according to word sent to Democratic State Chairman Finley today.

The governor cancelled a speech he was to have given at Mt. Vernon last night and one that he was to have given at Wooster tonight. He expects to move into the new executive mansion in Columbus Saturday and will attend the annual Jackson Day banquet to be given here Saturday night.

Announcement was made today that Representative Cowan of Putnam county will be given the chairmanship of the House finance committee. Representative M. A. Warren of Holmes county is slated for the chairmanship of the initiative and referendum committee of the House of Representatives. Read of Summit county for the chairmanship of the committee on conservation.

Representatives of the wet and dry in large numbers are planning to flock to Columbus next week to appear before the House committee on liquor license as it is the announced intention of the administration to give a clear road to the liquor license legislation.

Probabilities are that hearings before the House committee will not begin later than next Thursday. Representative Smith L. Welch of Ottawa county is to receive his old position as chairman of the license committee.

Both the House of Representatives and the Senate are now ready to begin active work. However, actual work will not commence until next Monday. As the inaugural services proper are scheduled for about 11 o'clock next Monday morning, both Houses probably will convene and then immediately recess until the following day.

Members of both Houses, including the Republican and Progressive members in the House of Representatives, have received invitations to attend the inaugural ball and occupy seats in the reviewing stand for the parade.

Speaker Swain, of the lower house, announced today that none of the Republican or Progressive members of that body will be given chairmanships of committees, although practically all of them will be placed on three or more committees. The senate caucus of Democrats allowed a chairmanship of a committee to each of the seven Republican senators.

The speaker said that he has practically decided upon all of the house committee appointments, but that they will not be announced until next week.

In the meantime he will consult with members and ascertain their willingness to serve on committees to which they have been tentatively appointed.

Judge Cyrus B. Winters, of Sandusky, is said to be slated for the chairmanship of the Code committee.

HON. T. B. FULTON IS COMPLIMENTED BY DIRECTORS

Guest of Honor at Banquet Tuesday Evening at Home of W. H. Broome.

Judge-elect T. B. Fulton was the guest of honor at a seven o'clock dinner Tuesday evening tendered him by the directors of the Citizens' Building and Loan Association at the home of William H. Broome in West Locust street. Mr. Fulton has been the attorney for the association for the past twenty-two years but was forced to resign on account of his elevation to the Common Pleas bench, which position he will assume February 10.

Mr. Broome had charge of affairs, assisted by Mr. H. H. Harris. The reputation of Mr. Broome as an entertainer and his knowledge of tempting menus was well known to the guests but they were not prepared for the excellent turkey dinner which was provided with all necessary accessories and a pronounced dyspeptic was he or she who could resist the temptingly prepared viands. The hot house gardens, cold storage and poultry plants had been called upon by the host and the result was a dinner fit for a king.

Messrs. Broome and Harris served the plates, the guests being taken care of by the Major-Domo of all Gaspons. Mr. Frank Ramsey, who served course after course and saw to it that all plates were kept well filled. There was only one table decoration, a mammoth solid platter banked with greenery across the top of the solid being molded in red and green mango strings the name "T. B. Fulton."

A pleasant hour was spent in discussing the most excellent dinner and then the tables were cleared, perfects passed and a feast of oratory followed. Mr. Fulton being the first speaker. He expressed his gratitude for the compliment paid him by those arranging the affair in his honor and told of his long associations with the men directing the affairs of the Citizens' company. Mr. Fulton said that he became the attorney for the association in 1890 and had been connected in that capacity ever since. He had watched its growth and expansion from almost its infancy until now it had passed the $100,000 mark. He was proud of its achievements and accomplishments, more so from the fact that all officers worked hard and gave their time and energy to make the institution a success and found it on a basis that would be everlasting. It was no easy task to build up. (Continued on Page 7, Col. 3.)

SERIOUS FLOOD REPORTED IN PENNSYLVANIA

Pittsburg, Jan. 8.—The Monongahela and Allegheny rivers rose so rapidly during last night that they were at flood height this morning and it was expected that when the crest of the rise reaches here tomorrow, there will be 32 feet of water in the Ohio river, the most serious flood since 1907. Scores of families have already been compelled to leave their homes and many men are temporarily out of employment because of the flooding of the mills. Trains on the B & O. railroad are being re-routed.

TARIFF ON POTTERY TO BE RETAINED

STOCKING MAKERS QUIT AT ELYRIA

Elyria, Jan. 8.—Returning to work after a two weeks' lay-off 100 girl employees of the Fay Stocking Company here were informed that hereafter a penalty would be imposed on them for imperfections in the stockings. The girls refused to go to work and walked out, declaring they would hold a mass meeting today to consider the new condition.

An average wage of $1 a day is made by each girl, they say, and the penalty would cut down that amount appreciably.

FILE CLERK TOO HASTY; EMBARRASSED

Columbus, Jan. 8.—Being mistaken as to the time when he was to assume the duties of his new position, caused George Cartwright of Cincinnati, no little embarrassment. He was appointed file clerk by Auditor Elect Donaghey, but did not understand that it was next Monday that he was to report for duty. Mr. Cartwright walked into the office where he will work, and addressed Miss Williams, who is serving out the unexpired term of P. W. Ewell, resigning, and made application for keys to the desk and solicited information concerning the duties of the position, saying, "I am appointed to succeed you." Miss Williams vacated. Later returned to her desk, and Mr. Cartwright, apologizing, retired.

CANAL LAND COMPANY IS ORGANIZED

Incorporated Today At Columbus With Capital of $60,000

COMPOSED OF LOCAL MEN

Purchasers of 50-Foot Strip Along Canal From North Fork to Sixth Street Comprise the New Company.

The Canal Land Company of Newark was incorporated today in Columbus by J. A. Flory, Fred G. Speer and H. S. Fleck the capital stock of the company being $60,000.

This company is composed of the Newark men owning property abutting on the abandoned Ohio canal within the city limits, at Newark, who were the successful bidders for the possession of the strip of land 50 feet in width running from the North Fork of the Licking River to Sixth street.

This afternoon one of the men instrumental in the bringing of the injunction suit in common pleas court which prevented the sale of the property last summer made the following statement to an Advocate representative.

"All the litigation between the city and the state is ended. Through the suits in the courts, which have finally been settled there has been obtained to the city and to the owners of property abutting on the old canal two streets 24 1/2 feet in width, one on each side of the old canal bed extending from the North Fork of the Licking to Sixth street. West of Sixth street and extending to the Raccoon aqueduct on the north side of the old canal bed will run a highway 12 feet in width. The state has reserved the right to lay a conduit along the roadway through the city, but this under the restriction that it will not interfere with the use of the street.

The purchasers of the 50 foot strip from the North Fork to Sixth street and of all the land west of Sixth street to the aqueduct, formerly covered by the canal, have formed the company which was incorporated today.

About 30 local men are interested in the company, each of whom will hold stock in the company in proportion to his subscription to the fund raised for the purchase of the property.

As yet nothing has been done as to the disposition of the land obtained by the company and nothing will be done until the organization of the company is effected.

There has been the expression of a desire on the part of the Ohio Electric Railway company to obtain the portion between Second street and Third street for a passenger station and freight depot, but no definite arrangements have been entered into. Whether the Ohio Electric purchases this portion of the strip depends upon whether terms satisfactory to the land company and the street railway people can be arrived at. Any such action will depend entirely upon prospective future negotiations.

In reference to the desire of the Ohio Electric to take over the portion between Second Street and Third street, he said that W. Keslev Schoepf, of Cincinnati, the president of the Ohio Electric, on a recent visit to this city had spoken to members of the land company relative to the sale of that part of the company's holdings.

Mr. Schoepf said that if the railway company could secure a substantial extension of its franchise from the city it would be disposed to buy the property and erect a creditable passenger station and extend its city service to the residence district in the northeastern part of the city.

According to some of those interested in the land company Mr. Schoepf seemed to desire a boost from the company in his effort to secure for his road an extension of the already liberal franchise.

Mrs. Mary Goode, the woman of the underworld who came before the Curran investigating committee in New York to protest against the demands made by the police for protecting vice, has stirred up a night scandal in the department. Mrs. Goode is a business college graduate, and worked for some time in New York as a stenographer. Sickness and poverty forced her to her life in the underworld.

WOMEN ARE BETTER BUYERS THAN MEN.

Woman is the purchasing head of the home, she not only buys most of the things used in the home, but most of the things used by the man of each family as well. She purchases the food, clothing, furnishings, and utilities; buys the children's outfits and several times as much for her own use as is needed by the average man.

It is natural, therefore, that she should read advertisements more than men, because advertising keeps her posted on the newest and best merchandise, the best stores at which to trade, and the best values obtainable. She buys things to better advantage than a man—makes the money go farther—by reading advertisements.

SUNDAY TALKS TO STUDENTS

Immense Crowd Braves Weather and Seas of Mud to Hear Evangelist

CLASS YELLS FREQUENT

Talk Last Night Was Not in the Nature of a Sermon— Advises College Men to Get Back to the Soil.

COLLECTIONS YESTERDAY.

Afternoon	$ 119.90
Evening	326.41
Total	$ 446.31

Total to date $5496.69

There have been 18 collections taken to date, with an average of $305 a collection, for the Billy Sunday meetings. Columbus is not raising its expense fund as rapidly, in proportion, as many of the smaller cities have done.

Columbus, Jan. 8.—In torrents of rain, and seas of mud, more than 15,000 persons struggled to get into the Goodale street tabernacle last night and that structure actually held its greatest crowd, more than 11,000, while Rev. W. A. Sunday, standing on the chair in his pulpit, using his hands for a funnel, shouted his message to the mixed multitude of college men and women, high school boys and girls, adults of both sexes and visitors from a number of surrounding villages and cities.

The rain beat in resounding terrors on the roof, but the Sunday mega-phone voice rose superior to the din and he hurled a message of good cheer, extolling education and commanding society, good sense, courage, and Christian character to the uttermost end of the place, so that the standees, who were permitted for the first time last night, got the benefit of every word.

Cheers were frequent and class yells marked the opening. The music took on a super-jovious cast and a sense of youthful enthusiasm pervaded everything, despite the damp, dank atmosphere which poured in through all ventilators. More numerous than ever were the stories the evangelist told to adorn his tale and in their acting out, he challenged the admiration of the throng, which gave vent to its admiration in prolonged hand-clapping.

In the afternoon a more sober and well-considered discourse on the need of Christians letting their light shine, not only in the church on Sunday, but in the shop and home seven days of the week, was delivered before an audience that more than half filled the tabernacle.

Tomorrow will be marked by several special meetings, preliminary to the services in the tabernacle. Rev. W. A. Sunday will have a special meeting at Broad Street Presbyterian church. At the Broad Street Methodist church a special program has been arranged. The music will be a leading feature. B. D. Ackley will play and Homer Rodeheaver will sing, and there will be an address. This evening at 8 o'clock there will be a meeting for women only at the Central Presbyterian church and as the capacity of this building will be over-taxed, according to advance reports, an overflow meeting will be held at Wesley Methodist Episcopal church. The same speakers and music will be heard at both.

Last night's effort was not, in any real sense, a sermon, and the evangelist had no text for it. He began with a reference to the stopping of all wheels of industry in the country at the time of President McKinley's funeral. He computed that in five minutes cessation of labor there had been in the United States a treasure of 200 years of service. He said that this was fitting and from this the youth of the country should learn that it is (Continued on Page 7, Col. 2.)

Seabrook, Jan. 8.—The grand jury will not be allowed to investigate any of the political groups on cases in Jefferson county because I am afraid of one member of it, who I believe acted as a go-between, and a spy during the probe of last month.

This statement was made by Prosecuting Attorney J. S. Paisley today. The grand jury, which met Monday, has been adjourned until January 20.

and that she recover judgment against Metz in the sum of $960.

Seeks Judgment.
Clyde M. Hare, day's business under the name of the Auditorium, has brought suit in common pleas court against W. A. Pungs, asking judgment in the sum of $490.50.

The petition recites that this sum was one of the liabilities of the Thompson Manufacturing Company, and that the defendant, when he took over the plant, assumed it.

Seeks Alimony.
Florence Love, by her attorneys, Smythe & Smythe, has filed a petition in probate court making Edward C. Love a Baltimore and Ohio fireman, the defendant in an action for alimony.

The petition recites that the parties were married in 1911 and that they have one child, Blanche Estelle, aged 14 months.

Mrs. Love avers that her husband is of a violent and hasty temper, that he has been guilty of extreme cruelty, and that he has made false accusations against her.

She asks temporary and permanent alimony and that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company be enjoined from paying him a sum of money now due him.

Case Submitted to Court.
In the case of Henrietta Lohrman vs. Rufus Schweinhart, a suit brought for the reformation of a deed for real estate situated in West Main street, the case was submitted to the court upon the testimony and evidence of several witnesses and taken under advisement. Plaintiff claims that the defendant sold property to her and gave a deed for a lot running to the center of the Ohio Canal. The defendant denies that he sold her the lot running to the center of the Ohio Canal, but only to the state line.

FRANK ERNE, THIRD LIGHT WEIGHT CHAMPION, WAS BORN 30 YEARS AGO TODAY

Frank Erne, who was the third man to hold the lightweight championship of the world under Marquis of Queensberry rules, was a native of Switzerland, and was born at Zurich thirty-eight years ago today, Jan. 8, 1875.

Erne's father was a wine grower, and that may account for Frank's tremendous consumption of the juice of the grape, which often seriously interfered with his training.

Erne won the lightweight title by a decision over Kid Lavigne in a twenty round bout at Buffalo, May 3, 1899. He held the title about three years. Joe Gans becoming his successor.

Erne began his pugilistic career at Buffalo, where he had gone as a youth, and where as a lad he was employed at the Buffalo Athletic Club. The boxing instructor observed that the youngster was a promising fighter, and Erne proved it by earning draws in contests with Geo. Siddons, famed as "the all-day fighter," and Solly Smith, a good California boxer. Then he went to New York, taking on George Dixon, getting a draw, although in a second bout he lost the decision to the clever colored boy. Beginning as a featherweight, Erne soon grew into a lightweight and challenged Kid Lavigne.

The first Erne-Lavigne battle resulted in a draw, although the Swiss boxer might easily have won except for the advice of his seconds. Erne then went to California and knocked out Dal Hawkins in the seventh round at San Francisco, although Erne himself had been knocked down half a dozen times before that. Back in New York, Erne took on George "Elbows" McFadden, and had only a shade the best of it in twenty-five rounds. A little later he won the lightweight title from Kid Lavigne, the French-Canadian. Erne then toured Europe, visiting his fatherland, and defeating the best of the lightweight of the other side. Upon returning to America, Erne fought Joe Gans, the Baltimore colored boy gave a classy exhibition up to the twelfth round, when he quit, declaring that his eyes had been "battered" clear outen his head. To the spectators it seemed more a case of cold feet that ailed Joseph. Erne got $10,000 for this fight, and a little later got $7,500 for taking a terrible drubbing at the hands of Terry McGovern. This bout lasted only three rounds, and was McGovern's fight from start to finish. Frank didn't have a chance. He had been forced to train down to 128 pounds, and this took all the strength and heart out of him. In May, 1902, Erne again met Gans, at Fort Erie, Ont., and was knocked out in the first round, losing the title. Later he won several battles in England, and became English lightweight champion, but there was little nutriment in that.

Farmers, Sell Produce to Newark People Direct, Through the Parcel Post and The Advocate. Mail Your Name Today

The one thing needed to bring about a flourishing Parcel Post trade between the farmers and the Newark people is to get them acquainted.

Here is where the Advocate offers its services.

The Advocate will publish a list of farmers, their addresses and what they have to offer to Newark and will give six insertions of the announcement free.

Mr. Farmer, write your name and complete postoffice address including R. F. D. and Box Number, together with a list of the things you are prepared to furnish by Parcel Post with their prices—then mail the post card to the Farm-to-Table department of the Advocate, Newark, Ohio. This newspaper will make no charge for the service and your statement will be published six times free.

Mr. Newark man and Mrs. Newark woman, the Advocate wants you to know Mr. Farmer and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, meet Mr. and Mrs. Newark.

Uncle Sam, through the Parcel Post has already introduced you, but the Advocate wants you to get acquainted. The Parcel Post will be a fine thing for the farmer and will be a splendid thing for the city folk and for the Newark merchants who will now be able to supply with quick delivery merchandise of all sorts to every section of the country.

No "mail order" house can possibly succeed in a community as well as the local merchant. If the local merchant plans his business as intelligently and economically as is done by his big distant competitor. Hitherto the great mail order houses have had the advantage in buying and in distributing. Now under the Parcel Post the Newark merchant can deliver goods direct as he never did before. He can be the agent of the manufacturer who has no time to start a mail order house and no inclination to do it. The mail order houses will live but their great monopoly will now cease.

Farmers, You May Now Sell Your Produce

—direct to Newark people,
—fresh from dairy or garden,
—and get your money in advance, by mail,
—at much less than the old shipping and handling cost.

The New Parcel Post Has Made This Possible

The mail order houses know that their system of selling 100 pounds of goods at a time in order to take advantage of a low freight rate now goes overboard. With the Parcel Post the local merchants' prosperity must increase at once. The Parcel Post will give to the Newark merchant a delivery system as good as that of the greatest city department store and great opportunities await those ready to take advantage of them.

But to return to the original proposition. If Henry Jones of Hudson Avenue, knew just where to send for certain fresh country produce he would be glad to place his order. If Farmer Smith knew that Mr. Jones wanted his produce he could make immediate delivery. The publication of Farmer Smith's name and address and a list of the things he has to sell would solve the problem. Therefore in order to be of service to both the people of Newark and the farmers of this community the Advocate offers to print the names of farmers as they are sent in, thus:

Henry Smith, Box 18, R. F. D. No. 2, Newark, Ohio.
Butter, Eggs, Bacon, Honey.

That's all, except farmers in submitting their names and addresses are also requested to give the prices they ask for their produce.

Newark folk and farmers, get together. You will be very useful and helpful to one another and the Parcel Post and the Advocate both want to do their part in getting you acquainted and in promoting the prosperity of all concerned. The Advocate wants its readers to know where the farmers are and where they can be reached and it wants the Newark merchants to realize fully the splendid opportunity that now awaits them in securing a larger share of the farmers' trade than ever before. Get together.

Newark and the Country should be great friends. Newark and the Country—you ought to be warm friends with great profit to both of you.

SIGN BOARD EVIL SCORED IN PICTURES

"We found one tree on the Mt. Vernon road with 13 advertising signs nailed to it," said Prof. A. B. Graham, superintendent of the department of agricultural extension of Ohio State University, to an Advocate reporter last night.

"Such a condition should not exist, and we are doing our best to eliminate such eyesores from the country roads of Licking county by placing the matter before the country people themselves. I believe our efforts will result in hundreds of advertising fences and boards being either painted over or torn down during the next few months, and the beauty of Licking county's country districts will be materially benefited thereby."

Superintendent Graham enjoyed a trip through the country districts in the vicinity of Newark a few weeks ago and secured numerous photographs of attractive places, as well as views showing the presence of advertising matter spoiling the effect of the natural scenery. It was the latter that prompted him to make severe efforts to convince the rural communities that advertising signs are an imposition upon them.

A number of lantern slides have been completed and in about ten days will be shown in the towns and villages of Licking and other counties. The work is to be in charge of a Licking county man, Mr. H. T. Eswine, now identified with the activities of the extension movement, who is thoroughly capable of interesting the farmers in the ideals of the university's extension work.

"We are not only going to show the ill-looking conditions," added Prof. Graham, "Licking is a beautiful county and its drives are very enjoyable, when one does not have to meet signboards telling him that John Jones sells the best clothes in town, and that the J. M. Reddy Company will furnish your house on the installment plan."

"It is our plan to show a number of views of the pleasant places, and then, by way of contrast to convince the farmers of their negligence in the past, exhibit the pictures of trees, fences, barns, etc., bearing the advertisements of enterprising city merchants."

"Of course, if the farmer wants his community's beauty spoiled by such signs, it is up to them, but our inquiries have led us to believe that the value of scenic beauty has never been properly called to their attention."

Mr. Eswine, who is to have charge of the lectures, is a resident of Pataskala and is well known in this city.

NEW HOSPITAL TO BE ERECTED IN EARLY SPRING

Contract is To Be Let As Soon as Half of Amount Subscribed is Paid—Do It Now.

The trustees of the Newark Hospital Association, who held a meeting Tuesday evening, announce that they are about ready to submit the building plans to contractors in order that the work of construction may begin soon. However, before a contract is awarded for the building the board wants one-half of the amount pledged paid to the treasurer. The trustees are personally responsible for the debt of the association and therefore do not care to enter into a building contract until at least half of the amount subscribed is paid. One-half of the subscription money is now due, and Treasurer Wm. L. Prout has arranged for payment of subscriptions to Secretary Henry D. Woodbridge, at the Franklin National Bank.

Subscriptions are being received every day. Some have paid the full amount, others have neglected to make their second payment and a few have paid nothing on their subscriptions. The secretary and treasurer were authorized by the board to send a collector to those whose subscriptions are due and unpaid, but the prompt payment of subscriptions to Secretary Woodbridge will save the association the expense of employing a collector. Subscribers who want to see the hospital construction commenced in the early spring are urged to make immediate payment of their subscriptions now due.

The proposed hospital will provide room for 54 patients and will be a complete, modern institution. The trustees would like to have a larger building, realizing that Newark will need accommodations for a larger number of patients in the near future, but their "suit is being cut according to the cloth." In other words, the trustees will build as big a hospital as the fund will warrant. If any one or any number of people want a larger hospital, the trustees will provide it if the fund is increased. The present plan is such that the size of the hospital can be doubled when the demand and the resources permit.

Every subscriber is urged to make immediate payment of that part of the subscription which is now due.

INSISTS ON INFORMATION FROM BANKS

Washington, Jan. 8.—Affairs of the national banks, particularly their loans and securities for loans were before the House money trust committee for investigation today. The committee has endeavored in vain to secure information on the subject through the controller of the currency.

President Taft, acting on the opinion of Attorney General Wickersham declined to direct the controller to furnish such information. Controller Lawrence O. Murray was the principal witness today. Samuel H. Hays, counsel for the committee, said, "without the information which is desired through the controller's office, it would be impossible to conclude the investigation."

With the present controller in a position where he will not supply the information, the committee contemplates asking the new Congress, which will convene March 4th, to authorize a continuation of the investigation through the special session.

Holiday in Louisiana Today Commemorates Famous Victory

In New Orleans today is all the parades of Louisiana today is a legal holiday, commemorating the victory of the Americans under General Andrew Jackson over the British in the famous battle fought in New Orleans ninety-eight years ago today.

The centennial of this last battle between the troops of England and the United States will be fittingly celebrated two years from today, but the rounding out of a century of peace between the great English-speaking nations, rather than the triumphs of war, will be the keynote of the centenary observance.

The blood-spattered pages of history present no parallel to the disparity in the losses of the opposing sides in the battle of New Orleans. The British lost 2,000 men in killed, wounded and prisoners, while the Americans, sheltered behind breastworks, lost only eight killed and thirteen wounded. But if the veteran soldiers of England were defeated by the frontiersmen of "Old Hickory," it was only after an exhibition of valor and bravery such as has seldom been witnessed. Lieut. General Edward Pakenham, "the hero of Salamanca," and one of Wellington's veteran officers, was in chief command of the British, and his gallantry challenged the admiration of the foe. Pakenham led his troops, Wellington's veterans, who, at his command, marched firmly on over the bodies of dead and dying comrades, into a terrific storm of bullets from the Tennessee and Kentucky sharpshooters. Early in the engagement the British general's bride-arm was made powerless by a bullet. A little later his horse was shot dead under him. Another missile soon found its mark in Pakenham's right thigh, and killed another horse under him. In a dying condition, he was carried to the rear, against his protests, and expired in the arms of his aid, Captain McDougall, under a live-oak tree. Pakenham's body was placed in a cask of rum and returned to England for burial, but the remains of many British officers and soldiers who lost their lives in that engagement lie scattered near New Orleans, and wreaths of flowers will today decorate their final resting place.

THE BEST TEACHER.

For real practical reliability and something to swear by, experience—plain old experience—is able to carry a big load yet without getting swayed.

A Western woman found some things about food from Old Experience a good reliable teacher. She writes:

"I think I have used almost every breakfast food manufactured, but none equal Grape-Nuts in my estimation."

"I was greatly bothered with weak stomach and indigestion, with formation of gas after eating, and tried many remedies for it but did not find relief."

"Then I decided I must diet and see if I could overcome the difficulty that way. My choice of food was Grape Nuts because the doctor told me I could not digest starchy food."

Grape-Nuts food has been of great benefit to me, for I feel like a different person since I began to eat it. It is wonderful to me how strong my nerves have become. I advise everyone to try it, for experience is the best teacher."

"If you have any stomach trouble—can't digest your food, use Grape-Nuts food for breakfast at last, and you won't be able to praise it enough when you see how different you feel." FIRST THINGS

The first great astronomical discovery made by the use of the telescope was the achievement of Galileo
who, 313 years ago today, Jan. 2, 1610, discovered the satellites of Jupiter. It has been denied that the telescope constructed by Galileo was the first instrument of its kind, but certainly Galileo was first to make an important and epochal use of the device. Jupiter was known as a planet to the Chaldeans. It is said some 3,000 years before the beginning of the Christian era, but it remained for Galileo to first see its attendant satellites, four in number.
Galileo's other remarkable discoveries included Saturn's ring, the sun's spots, and the starry nature of the Milky Way. He was twice persecuted by the Inquisition because of his persistence in upholding the truth of the Copernican system. Under fiendish torture he abjured his "heresies," publicly, but privately remained of the same mind still. Gal-ileo died 271 years ago today, Jan.
8, 1642, on the anniversary of his great discovery.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Dust and Consumption.
Dust is a threefold factor in consumption. First, it acts as a predisposing cause. It is a direct physical irritant to the respiratory passages. By thus irritating or inflaming the mucous membranes it weakens their power to resist bacterial invasion.

Second, dust may carry infection directly by means of
dried tubercular sputum recently
discharged by some careless or
ignorant consumptive.

Third, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case because of the added pus producing
germs.

Fourth, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Fifth, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Sixth, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Seventh, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Eighth, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Ninth, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

LET'S BRING NEWARK AND COUNTRY CLOSER TOGETHER

The Parcel Post should and doubtless will bring the people of Newark and Licking County closer together. For several years there has been a tendency towards an-tagonism between the city and the country, at least among some Newark people and certain country folk, but there is no reason in the world why Newark should not look upon the farmer as his friend
and the farmer should take pride in the growth and in the prosperity of the city.

The bigger Newark becomes the more valuable grows the farmer's land and the better market it affords for his product and as the farmer becomes prosperous so does the local merchant's business increase.

Licking county farmers should make Newark their country seat, their "trading place." They should bring their produce here or send it here and should buy their shoes, their clothing, their dry goods, their groceries, their vegetables, hardware and other necessaries here. The patronage of the Newark stores will help Newark to grow and as Newark grows
the market for their farm produce improves.

The new Parcel Post will be of
great help to the farmer and it
will help Newark also. Heretofore, Mr. Farmer has taken down
his big city mail order catalogue
and has ordered this or that and

then added a lot of other things
that he didn't need or intend to purchase in order to make up a 100 pound shipment and thus take advantage of the freight rate. The Parcel Post will change this system and will be a rude shock to
the mail order houses in that it
will put the Newark merchants in position to serve their rural patrons upon the same basis as the big city merchant. Newark prices
are lower than many bigger city
prices and the reason is apparent.
Rents and cost of operation are
lower here while the big city
man's money will buy no more in the eastern markets than does the Newark merchant's cash. The Newark man can afford and does
sell at a lower price. The Parcel Post will give to the local merchant a delivery system equal to
that of a large city department
store. On the other hand, the Parcel Post will give to the farmers an

the Newark stores will help New-

the market for their farm produce improves.

The new Parcel Post will be of
great help to the farmer and it
will help Newark also. Heretofore, Mr. Farmer has taken down
his big city mail order catalogue
and has ordered this or that and

then added a lot of other things
that he didn't need or intend to
purchase in order to make up a 100 pound shipment and thus take advantage of the freight rate. The Parcel Post will change this system and will be a rude shock to
the mail order houses in that it
will put the Newark merchants in
position to serve their rural patrons upon the same basis as the
big city merchant. Newark prices
are lower than many bigger city
prices and the reason is apparent.
Rents and cost of operation are
lower here while the big city
man's money will buy no more in
the eastern markets than does the Newark merchant's cash. The Newark man can afford and does
sell at a lower price. The Parcel
Post will give to the local merchant a delivery system equal to
that of a large city department
store. On the other hand, the Parcel Post will give to the farmers an opportunity to sell their produce direct to Newark people. The Advocate, hardware and other necessaries here. The patronage of the Newark stores will help New-

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Dust and Consumption.
Dust is a threefold factor in consumption. First, it acts as a predisposing cause. It is a direct physical irritant to the respiratory passages. By thus irritating or inflaming the mucous
membranes it weakens their
power to resist bacterial invasion.

Second, dust may carry infection directly by means of
dried tubercular sputum recently
discharged by some careless or
ignorant consumptive.

Third, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Fourth, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Fifth, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Sixth, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Seventh, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

Eighth, dust may aggravate an
incident or curable case of consumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-
cause of the added pus producing
germs.

sumption and thus convert it into
a rapid and virulent case be-

FINE EXHIBIT OF CHICKENS AT TENTH SHOW

A fair sized crowd attended the first evening exhibit of the Tenth annual Poultry Show Tuesday night and though the exhibit is not a large one every visitor was impressed with the fine quality of fowls entered in the annual contest.

The room is well filled with coops of fine birds, the upper crust of the poultry world. The entries in the Plymouth Rocks, Orpingtons and Leghorn classes being particularly fine.

Children will be delighted with the exhibit of rabbits, bantams and puppies. A half dozen coops of bantams, Buff Cochins and Brahmas are filled with beautiful chickens in miniature. These exhibits are attracting a great deal of attention.

At Powell has a splendid list of entries in the corn show department,
of which he has charge, and there will be some keen contests for high honors in this department.

Tuesday afternoon, the officials of the association weighed all the birds
and entered the weight on the entry cards. This will be the official weight considered by the judge in scoring the birds.

The show will continue until Saturday and the rooms will be open afternoon and evening. Work of scoring the entries will be started Wednesday or Thursday.

THE MILLENIUM.

When women vote there'll be an end of trouble, vice, grief and tears will all be done away; success and joy will then be trotting double, we'll drop our work and all run out and play. Ah, then, my friends, there'll be an end of sighing, in all the world there'll be no hint of woe, while overhead the pigs are deftly flying, and roosters cluck, and hens rear up and crow. When women vote the toilers and the tillers no more will be slaves of plutocrats; the social scheme will find them its chief pillars—and cats will live in peace with mice and rats. No winter storms or cold will be permitted, our lives will then be cast in pleasant June; and they'll campaign who lately sat and knitted, and wives will wear their husband's pantaloons. When women vote the crooks will leave their perches, there'll be no drink more fierce than lemonade;
we'll all set forth a-building schools and churches where late the Rum Holes cast their baleful shade. When women vote there'll be no cloud or shadow, the whole wide world of sunlight will be full; and every cow that browses in the meadow, will paw around and think she is a bull.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

By O. Terrence.

VISCOUNT GLADSTONE, GOVERNOR OF SOUTH AFRICA, IS 59.

Herbert John, first Viscount Gladstone, Governor-General of the Union of South Africa, and son of one of England's greatest statesmen, celebrated his fifty-ninth birthday Tuesday. As the ruler of a new nation with a heterogeneous population and diverse interests, Lord Gladstone faced a different task when, three years ago, he was chosen as the first Governor of the most recent of the vast dominions to be added to the British empire. Hatred of everything English, smoldered in the hearts of the Boers, conquered but not convinced of the desirability of British rule. In his work of reconciliation and readjustment, Lord Gladstone has acquitted himself well, and today the Transvaal is filled with the homes of a happy and contented people. The Union of South Africa, with the son of The Grand Old Man at its helm, has become a real nation, its component parts as firmly knit as those of the Dominion of Canada or the Commonwealth of Australia.

Herbert John Gladstone was born
at 12 Downing street, London, on January 7, 1853. He was the youngest son of the Rt. Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, the distinguished Prime Minister of Great Britain, and Catherine,
the eldest daughter of Sir Stephen Glynne. He was educated at Eton and at University College, Oxford, and for three years was lecturer on history at Koble College. He began his political career at the age of twenty-six, when he contested Middlesex county. At first successful in politics
as the son of his father, he soon demonstrated his right to high office by his own ability. As a Lord of the Treasury, Financial Secretary of the War Office, First Commissioner of works, and chief whip of the Liberal party, he demonstrated his fitness for the important position given him in 1910, when he was elevated to the peerage—an honor refused by his distinguished father—and sent to South Africa as the first Governor of the new Union.

Although fifty-nine today, Lord
Gladstone is usually spoken of as one of the younger school of British statesmen, and the youthfulness of his appearance justifies the characterization. Says a writer in a London publication:

"He does not look a day over forty,
and this is probably due to the whole-hearted way in which he enters into everything he does, either work or play. He is a firm believer in all sports, and still goes in for cricket, cycling, shooting, and fishing."

Lord Gladstone's job is not the easiest in the world. He has been the subject of bitter attacks as an aristocrat who "shows a tendency to fussy ceremonial" and has been accused of wishing to establish something resembling a royal court in South Africa. On the other hand he is charged with radicalism and subservience to the labor leaders. On the whole,
however, he is popular with the people of the new "U. S. A." and his services are given full recognition by the masses of the people. His chival-rous attitude toward the Boers has won their friendship, and his policy of conciliation has succeeded where a "strong arm" or "musket ball" administration would certainly have failed.

British now occupy places of honor in Gladstone's government, and his cordial attitude toward them has saved whatever sore spots remain from the long and terrible conflict. The bloody shirt has been buried in South Africa,
and the credit largely belongs to Viscount Gladstone.

SNAPSHOTS BY BARBARA BOYD

The Old-Fashioned Old Maid.

WHENEVER I am at Mrs. Godfrey's for any length of time, I feel as if I would like to get that sister of hers off by herself and administer a good shaking and a few pointed remarks," said the bright club-woman to a friend.

"You mean Miss Ingersoll?"

"Yes."

"What's she been doing?"

"She hasn't been doing anything. That's the trouble. I would like to make her brace up and do one particular thing, any way, if she did no more."

"Goodness! What is it? I am curious."

"Take a different view of herself and her value in life. She's one of those old-time women who go about with an apologetic air because they are old maids. She fusses around and tries to let on she's important. And she makes the most of every little trivial incident in order to seem to have a lot to talk about. But deep down in her heart she believes she's a failure because she wasn't able to catch a man. And she thinks everybody else looks on her as a failure for the same reason. Whereas if she'd just brace up, throw all such ideas to the winds, for the foolishness they are, and take an interest in real things, she'd be quite a charming woman."

"But you know in her day, women were looked on as failures if they didn't marry. When they were passed by, it was regarded as proof positive that they were lacking in some of the essential qualities of a wife — good looks and a good figure seemed to be the principal ones. But at any rate, something was missing was the verdict."

"Of superficial thinkers, — yes."

"But there are a lot of superficial thinkers," said the other resignedly.

"You're right, I must admit," agreed the club-woman. "Just the other day, a man whom I always thought had real brains, said to me in regard to a mutual acquaintance, that he didn't see why she wasn't married, as she was quite a handsome woman. He seemed to think because she was good-looking some man would want to marry her; and that if some man wanted to marry her that was all there was to it. And he absolutely refused to entertain the thought that any woman wouldn't marry if she could, no matter what the man might be like."

"That's just it," said the other. "And that's what's the matter with Miss Ingersoll. She believes people think she never had the opportunity to marry because of some lack in herself, and it makes her creep around with that apologetic air, and live on the idea there is nothing in her."

"But she ought not to," replied the club-woman energetically. "She should not be cowed by such superficial thinking. Besides today everybody has long gone by that idea."

"How about the man you were speaking of," interrupted the other.

"Well, if they haven't, they ought to be pushed by. And every one of us ought to give a shove. And so I say she ought to brace up, let her really charming personality express itself, and live her life fully and freely; and not go stealing meekly about believing she isn't of any account."

"I am afraid she is too old to change," said the other.

"Well, at any rate, I am glad this generation isn't growing up with any such ideas to dwarf and stunt their lives. And I shouldn't wonder if some day I should take her in hand and see if I can't root them out of her."

The next meeting will be held with Miss Lois McNealy at her home in North street, Tuesday, January 21.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ankele entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Dr. and Mrs. J. Morrison Thomas, who will leave next week for Ravenswood, Ill., where Dr. Thomas is to have charge of the Ravenswood Congregational church. Guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Flory and Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Keckley.

Miss Lenora Phillips of West Church street, left this morning for Cincinnati, where she will enter the Conservatory of Music, as a student of pipe organ music, specializing in the playing and composition of church music. Miss Phillips was accompanied by Miss Harriet Bush of the Clarendon hotel, Zanesville, who will enroll as a student of piano and voice.

The Independent Circle met with Mrs. Dora Hedrick of Valandigham street. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, there was a good attendance, fourteen answering to the roll call. The monthly prize of $5.00 was awarded to Mrs. Susie Fristoe.

The meeting was opened by Scripture reading by the hostess, after which select readings were given by Mrs. Watts, Mrs. Kate Ankele, Mrs. Ella Harter and Miss Louise Andrews.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Hedrick served dainty refreshments after which they adjourned to meet with Mrs. Kate Ankele, 128 South Second street the first Friday in February.

VICTORY FOR OHIO FORCES IN CONGRESS

Washington, Jan. 8.—For the first time since the Democrats gained control of the house of representatives two years ago, Democrats of Ohio have a representative on the ways and means committee, which has charge of tariff and other revenue legislation and which also constitutes the important committee on committees. The Republicans have a member in Representative Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati, but since they are in the minority that is not particularly important, because the tariff is to be revised in accordance with Democratic principles.

The Buckeye Democrat is Representative Timothy T. Ansberry, of Defiance, who has been fighting for the place since he was endorsed for it by his Democratic colleagues last month. The opposition to him swiftly melted away when the house Democrats went into caucus late yesterday and Ansberry received a unanimous vote. He will fill the vacancy on the committee caused by the retirement of Senator-elect William Hughes of New Jersey.

Right up until the last minute it looked as if the caucus would be tied up with a hot contest. While Ansberry had been regarded as the leading contender for the position, Representative Hamill of New Jersey was at his heels for a while, but when the caucus was called to order it became more and more evident that Ansberry would win and Hamill threw up the sponge. Representative J. H. Goeke of Wapakoneta, Ohio, placed Ansberry in nomination and Hamill seconded the nomination.

SUNDAY

Strong advice was given to young college men to get back to the soil, to be agriculturists and horticulturists and to become raisers of cattle that will give pure milk and stop the murder of 200,000 infants annually. He said that 98 per cent of all the criminals in the United States come from the cities. "Boys, go to the country," he urged.

The evangelist then told of the big money that can be made in orcharding in the far West and made fun of the fellow who prefers good clothes and a $3 a week "salary" to the man who will don overalls and a blue shirt and make $25 a week in "wages."

"It takes more than a mortar board cap, a 'varsity' pin and a college yell to put your life in italics," he told the assembled students. "The size of a man is determined by what he is and what he does. The man who believes in God is bigger than the blarney infidel. You'd got to feel the desire to grow within you, just as a miser wants money or a hog wants slop."

"We can't make something out of a nonentity with all the schools and colleges in the country. How shall you do this? By going with people that are bigger than you. Get a good introduction to yourself."

"The trouble with a lot of you men is that you started at third base. Your run don't count. Why don't you acknowledge what others know, that you are a quitter. That isn't the sort of fellow that makes the touchdown and the men carry off the field on their shoulders."

"If you find a fellow on the hill-top, he never lit there, he had to climb. You stop windflaming and climb."

"Five things are necessary to success: Blood, environment, education, grit and religion. Without the last, you are the biggest failure God ever looked on. False ideals strew this world with wrecks. If all the legal spawn in the universities became lawyers, the world would be mortgaged forever paying court costs. Be what you are with all the power you possess. A lot of fellows are only good to help the census-taker add one more to his record."

"Your size depends on your mind, not your muscle. You can't determine character by the ratio of a detestable engineer is bigger than the engine because he runs it."

"It pays better to raise pure men and the same as it does with stock. When a cow stops giving milk, her mission in life is ended. You don't keep cows for company."

"Cut out cigarettes or they'll cut you out. You go out of school and look for a job with yellow fingers and yellow lips and they'll tell you to beat it."

Sunday then injected a lot of figures to show how a person's chance to success increases with his education. An eighth grade education gives a boy 900 chances to win against the one of the uneducated boy; a high school education gives him 2200 chances to one, and a college education 8000 chances to one. He also gave the proportion of educated and partially educated men who are listed in "Who's Who."

"It pays to improve your opportunities to improve yourself," he went on. "Do your best and you'll never wear out shoe leather looking for a job. I can tell a man's size by what he is overcoming. I knew the size of the fellow that stole my umbrella just as well as though I had measured him for a suit of clothes."

"Look on the bright side of things. Every time you smile you put a crimp in the undertaker's business. If every black cloud had a cyclone in it the world would have been blown to pieces long ago. If I could get everybody in Columbus to practice smiling one hour a day, your best friends wouldn't know you by the time I leave Columbus."

Ohio State University sent the largest crowd, more than 1200. Estimates from other schools follow: South High, 250; West High, 250; East High, 300; Bliss College, 250; North High, 350; Milo, 75; Central, 200; Starling Medical, 100.

Students came from Mt. Gilead, Pataaskala, Westerville and Mt. Vernon. About 150 persons came from Mt. Gilead. Special service was used to accommodate the crowds from Pataaskala and Edison.

The various school representations were requested to stand each in their turn and to give their yell. The students from Ohio State University were called on for sons and they responded. There were hundreds of students who were unable to enter the tabernacle, and among these were 200 from the university.

ALLIES TRYING TO INDUCE THE POWERS TO ACT

London, Jan. 8.—Interest in the Balkan situation has shifted to Constantinople, from which point future plans of the European powers will be divulged. In the meantime peace plans have been paralyzed. Rechad Pasha, chief of the Ottoman envoys, is still awaiting instructions from the Turkish government, and allies are making strenuous efforts to influence the powers in their favor.

NON. T. B. FULTON

the concern to his present magnitude but it required hard, earnest, faithful, and conscientious work. Mr. Fulton told of pouring over books and burning the midnight oil on one occasion and when he started home at 2 o'clock in the morning he ran across his good wife searching along the willows in the west end for his body. Mrs. Fulton thinking that he must have been waylaid and robbed. The speaker told several anecdotes of early life in association affairs and how improvements had been made until now the association is systematized so that all records are complete and accurate and any account can be found in a second. He paid a glowing tribute to those officials of the company who have passed away, of cemented friendships that would be lasting and said that now comes the severing of his official position with the institution which he holds so dear but that as long as he lived he would never sever his associations with those with whom he had been associated so long in an official capacity. He knew that he was leaving the affairs of the company in the hands of capable men and he predicted that in time it would reach the million dollar mark. He then bade all farewell as an officer and said that friends were the dearest thing a man could have and that the friends he had made through the Citizens' association had been friends in deed and need and that he would not part with the knowledge of the friends that he had made for all the wealth that he might accumulate in life. Mr. Fulton in closing said that he fully realized the responsibility of the Common Pleas judgeship and that he was determined to give to the position all the ability that he possessed and that he would center all his activities in that direction so that he could be a credit to his friends, his family, his country and the nation.

Mr. Herbert Harris was next called upon. "Herb," as his friends call him, is well known as an after dinner speaker and he can recite Kipling and Shakespeare by the volume. Chauncey Depew has nothing on Herb when it comes to good fellowship around the festive board. He said that when Mr. Fulton's name was announced as a candidate for the judgeship the company directors were undecided as to whether to support him or not as they did not wish to lose his valuable services and knew that it would be hard to replace him. Mr. Harris referred to the unavoidable absence of several of the directors and regretted that they could not be present to enjoy the evening. He said the dinner was given from the hearts of the officers and that while they regretted to lose Mr. Fulton's services yet they were proud of the honor which had come to him and he would have the best wishes of all for a successful administration of his office.

Mr. C. L. V. Holtz was the next speaker and paid many compliments to the retiring attorney of the association. He said that it was hard to lose the services of Mr. Fulton and since becoming connected with the institution had always found him to be cooperative in all things and a wise counselor. He wished him all success possible in his new field of labor.

Mr. W. H. Broome was next called upon and although laboring under a bad cold made one of the characteristic addresses for which he is noted and which abounded in wit, anecdotes and gems of oratory that made his auditors feel "that life was certainly worth while." Mr. Broome is perfectly at home whenever called upon to address an audience or participants at a banquet board and Tuesday night was no exception. He paid the guest of honor many pretty compliments and told of the good that he had accomplished in his official capacity as attorney for the association. He regretted very much the severing of the official tie but he wished him unbounded success and predicted for him a promising future as a jurist. Mr. Broome then spoke of the pleasant official relations of all and told how their institution had been placed on a sound financial basis by the combined efforts of all its officers and he predicted still greater accomplishments in the near future in the financial world.

J. D. McNamar, president of the Citizens' Building and Loan association next paid a glowing tribute to Judge Fulton. He was followed by H. H. Scott, who said many pleasant things about the directors and the quest of honor. Judge-elect Fulton. Mr. Scott told of the little pleasures that are at times injected into the daily routine work of a newspaper man by occasions such as the one they were enjoying at the time and closed by predicting a successful career for the association and one also for the new judge soon to be. Mr. H. D. Hale followed with a few remarks and after a toast to the guest of honor, all repaired to the parlor where Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jameson and Miss Atta Melton furnished instrumental and vocal music. Punch was also served in the music room throughout the evening.

Those present to honor Judge-elect Fulton were President J. D. McNamar, Attorney and Mrs. T. J. Fulton, Director and Mrs. H. H. Harris, Director and Mrs. Asbury Bishop, Director and Mrs. C. L. V. Holtz, Secretary and Mrs. W. H. Broome and children William Jr., Dorothy and Carl, Clerk and Mrs. Earl Jameson, Cashier Miss Atta Melton, Mrs. Frank Reece, H. H. Scott and H. D. Hale.

AGED HORSE CAR TEAM IN MAD DASH; SACRIFICE LIVES

New York, Jan. 8.—Among New Yorkers who travel by horse car there was a amusing speculation yesterday over the record speed at which Tom and Jerry, described as prehistoric span, dragged a belt line horse car for five blocks along the water front yesterday and then made a suicidal bolt for the Hudson river.

Tom plunged into the water and was drowned under a ferry boat, while Jerry backed into a fruit stand and broke his leg, after the startled passengers had been left stranded by the breaking of the coupling. The old driver, who said the pair had been in the service ever since he could remember, was in doubt as to whether the animals were simply seized with a desire to destroy themselves, resolved to show the town that horse cars were still in the running or determined to defy the new speed limits. Everyone agreed it was an unprecedented run for a full quarter of a mile.

Wagenheim, master at arms; Archie Willard, master of work; James McGough, keeper of records and seals; Charles E. Root, master of finance; C. L. H. Quickly Dispel Stomach Distress

Whatever the Trouble, It Disappears in Five Minutes After Taking a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

All of the unpleasant sensations attendant upon eating too heartily are almost instantly relieved by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

Heaviness of the Stomach from Undigested Food Quickly Relieved by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

When you take food into a stomach that is tired and over-taxed, the gastric juices do not form fast enough to digest it properly. So the food becomes sour and at once begins to throw off gases. Your stomach becomes inflated just as surely as if you attached a toy balloon to a gas jet. Then the gases and foul odors issue forth and pollute your breath. Your tongue quickly becomes coated and you can taste the foulness that is within you.

Now all this condition is changed almost instantly by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. This little digester gets busy at once—supplies all the digestive elements that were lacking—digests the food in a jiffy and sweetens and refreshes the mucous lining of the stomach and bowels and restores peace and content.

One grain of a single ingredient in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 2,000 grains of food. This saves your stomach and gives it the rest it needs. All muscles require occasional rest if they are ever over-taxed. The stomach is no exception to this rule.

Try a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and you will wonder how you ever got along without them. They are sold at 50 cents by all druggists everywhere.

I Will Stake This Medicine Against Your Time

A Few Days Will Be Sufficient to Prove That You Are Curable

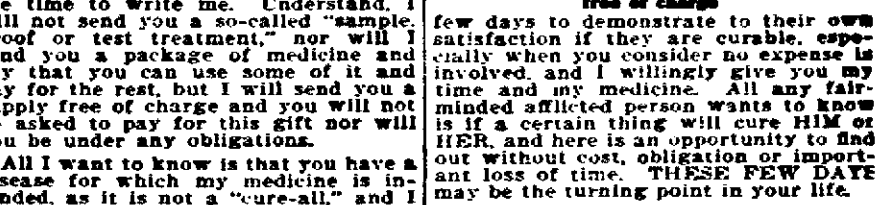

A few minutes of your time for a few days and I will demonstrate to you, without expense to yourself, that I have a medicine that drives Uric Acid poison from the system and by so doing cures kidney trouble, bladder trouble and rheumatism. I don't ask you to take my word for it, but simply want you to let me send you some of this medicine so that you can use it personally.

I am trying to convince sufferers from these diseases that I have something far better than the usual run of remedies, treatments and such things, and the only way I can demonstrate that fact is to go to the expense of compounding the medicine and sending it out free of charge. This I am glad to do for any sufferer who will take the time to write me. Understand, I will not send you a so-called "sample," proof or test treatment, nor will I send you any medicine at all, and say that you can use some of it and pay for the rest, but I will send you a supply free of charge and you will not be asked to pay for this gift so there will be under any obligations.

All I want to know is that you have a disease for which my medicine is indicated as it is not a "cure-all," and I give herewith some of the leading symptoms of kidney, bladder and rheumatic troubles. If you notice one or more of these symptoms you must have my medicine, and I will be glad to send you some of it if you will write me the numbers of the symptoms you have, give your age, sex, name and address. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 207 Deagan Building, Chicago, Ill. I promise me nothing; you pay nothing. I will send you my medicine absolutely free of charge, and I shall be no mistake, is that you send me the numbers of your symptoms or a description in your own words, and that you take the medicine according to the directions I send you. It is my way of getting publicity for my medicine so that it will become widely known.

You will agree when you have used it that it dissolves and drives out uric acid poison. It tones the kidneys so that they work in harmony with the bladder, it strengthens the bladder so that frequent desire to urinate and other urinary disorders are banished. It stops rheumatic aches and pains immediately. It dissolves uric acid crystals so that back and muscles no longer ache and crooked joints quickly straighten out. It restores the blood and nerves so that you soon feel healthier and more vigorous, sleep better and eat better and have energy throughout your day. It does this and yet contains nothing injurious and is absolutely proved for according to law.

Sufferers from these dreadful and dangerous diseases can surely afford to spend a few minutes each day for a few days to demonstrate to their own satisfaction if they are curable, especially when you consider no expense is involved, and I willingly give you my time and my medicine. All any fair-minded afflicted person wants to know is if a certain thing will cure him or her, and here is an opportunity to find out without cost, obligation or important loss of time. THE FEW DAYS may be the turning point in your life.

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT who will send medicine free of charge

All who are interested enough to write me for the free medicine will also receive a copy of my large illustrated medical book which describes these diseases thoroughly. It is the largest book of the kind ever written for free distribution, and a new edition is just being printed. I will also write you a letter of diagnosis and medical advice that should be of great help to you; but in order to do this I must know that you need my medicine. Write me the numbers of the symptoms that trouble you, and your age, and I will promptly carry out my promise. Show an inclination to be cured and you will be.

- ### These Are the Symptoms:
- 1-Pain in the back.
 - 2-Too frequent desire to urinate.
 - 3-Burning or obstruction of urination.
 - 4-Pain or soreness in the bladder.

BANQUET AND INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

Eagles Enjoy Social Session at Lodge Rooms Tuesday Night, Marking Annual Change in the Lodge Officers.

Music, oratory and eats marked the annual installation of the officers of Newark Aerie 327, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at the lodge rooms on South Park Place, Tuesday night. The officers installed were as follows:

Worthy President—Charles Duerr.
Worthy Vice President—Louis Rebeck.
Worthy Physician—Dr. C. F. Leake.
Worthy Secretary—Matthew Kneuper.
Worthy Treasurer—Leo Besanency.

Worthy Chaplain—Morgan Hibler.
Inside Guard—J. J. Tyler.
Trustees—Fred Boyer, Henry Loewendick, Frank Rogers.
John Stapleton was advanced to the chair of the past worthy president.

Past Worthy President, Charles Henry had charge of the installation. Following the ceremonies, nearly 200 members of the order sat down to an excellent banquet prepared by William Kuster. Roast turkey was the headliner and all the delicacies which usually accompany the national board were heaped on the banquet tables in large quantities.

The hall was beautifully decorated with floral pieces furnished by Charles Duerr and Marsh's orchestra enlivened the evening with a splendid program. The Eagles' quartet and another quartet rounded up by Leo Besanency furnished vocal music.

At the conclusion of the banquet brief addresses were made by Messrs. Charles Duerr, Charles Henry, John Stapleton and Louis Rebeck.

LASTEYRIES HONEYMOON IN A TENT

Count Guy de Lasteurie, formerly employed by the Holophane company in this city, and Countess de Lasteurie, who was Miss Constance Warren of New York, and a niece of Mrs. Robert Goetz, will spend a honeymoon of six months camping in a tent on the plains of Arizona. So writes a correspondent in Marshall, Arizona, to a Chicago daily. The Marshall message reads:

Within a few days the distinguished friends of the Count de Lasteurie and his "blue-bird" bride, who was Miss Constance Warren, will find the home of the bridal party over by taking a two-day ride out of Marshall over the desert and into the highlands.

They will be able to tell it by a thin, straight spiral of smoke that will look to them as if some giant of the wastes had left his lighted cigarette upon the tableland.

The smoke will mark a fire in front of a camp tent, with pots and pans and park saddles lying at hand, and two tethered ponies near.

At first it will appear that two young men are the occupants of the tent, but that will not be true, for if they look closely they will see that one of the "men" is very delicate of feature, though vigorous of form. That one will be the Countess, the other the Count.

If they ever get there and are inclined to dinner the Countess will do the cooking—and do it well—the place de resistance being same that she has shot with her own rifle.

But they will never get there. This wilderness romance, which might have been taken from the thrilling pages of "The Virginian," you remember The Virginian and the little schoolmistress backing off into the wilds for their honeymoon—is to have isolation for its whole aim and charm. Not a servant or guide will go with them. Even the Countess' maid will be left in Marshall.

Count de Lasteurie has "roughed it" in all parts of the world and revels in the life, but this honeymoon is said to have been the suggestion of the bride. For six months they will dwell alone together in their tent, moving from time to time, hunting, fishing, exploring, forgetting the pomp of society, the sophistication of cities, leaving the formal mountains under the stars.

They are coming here after a brief visit in Los Angeles.

THE BIRTHDAY CALENDAR.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

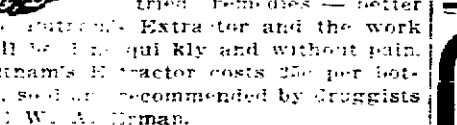

Good fortune awaits you at the end of a journey or after some change in your affairs. You will form new friendships and the old friends will prove their worth.

Those born today will be of strong natures and will usually win out in their undertakings. Their danger will be from overdoing things and from the lack of consideration for others. They should be taught kindness.

WILSON'S BIG BAIL MAY BE DECIDED TODAY

Washington, Jan. 8.—Congress was called upon today to meet the plans for the inauguration of President Wilson by passing a bill drawn and presented by the local committee having the ceremonial in charge. The measure provides, among other things, for a congressional grant, of the pension bureau building for the inaugural ball. Many members of the House are said to be opposed to embarrassing the work of the bureau, which is now taxed to its capacity.
